Once again, to foster greater planetary peace -- with my own personal sphere of influence, by way of Paulo Freire of Brazil where his word -- Conscientization had sent me back to the tracks and traces of the Chinese and how the Chinese with our words and expressions about human conscience -- Conscience can be translated also as the language and words that are speaking out of our human hearts -- As in my own study to become an educational psychology -- I was influenced and educated by the Roman Catholic orders, to which I am sincerely appreciate -- However, where I wanted to concentrate into the area of counseling/advising and guidance, to create a universal languages for all -- and with my immediate focus, to work with the education amongst the native Brazilians with a great deal of work of the Salesians in the region in Mato Grosso and with the native groups named Xavantes was one of those focus, next, was my focus as to the metropolitan and urban areas called Favelas -- Why aren't we there? Millions of youngsters can use counseling and guidance with or without the religious link -- My study led to the forming of the 3Cs system, and such research and development led to the development of the PRS™ - The psychology of round and square -- the most functional and simplistic way to teach all counseling and advising system to all people of all age, and to all ethnic groups - such journey had taken me back to my Chinese roots and today - the focus of Consciencology, derived from the Conscientization from Paulo Freire -- where I have found the commonality between the work of Paulo Freire has its direct link to the work of Wang Yang Ming. This can be a great area to involve students from all ages and world cultures.  Also, of all the stratification in our society today.

Carl Gustav Jung, born on July 26, 1875, in Switzerland and passed away on June 6, 1961, was a seminal figure in the early development of psychology. A contemporary of Sigmund Freud, Jung founded analytical psychology, diverging from Freud's theories on the unconscious. He introduced concepts such as the collective unconscious, archetypes, and psychological types (introversion and extraversion). Jung's work on dream analysis, symbolism, and the integration of spirituality into psychotherapy significantly influenced psychology and fields like literature, religious studies, and art. His approach emphasized the importance of individual psychic development and the quest for wholeness through individuation. Jung's extensive writings and his exploration of the deep aspects of the human psyche have left a lasting legacy in both clinical psychology and cultural theory.

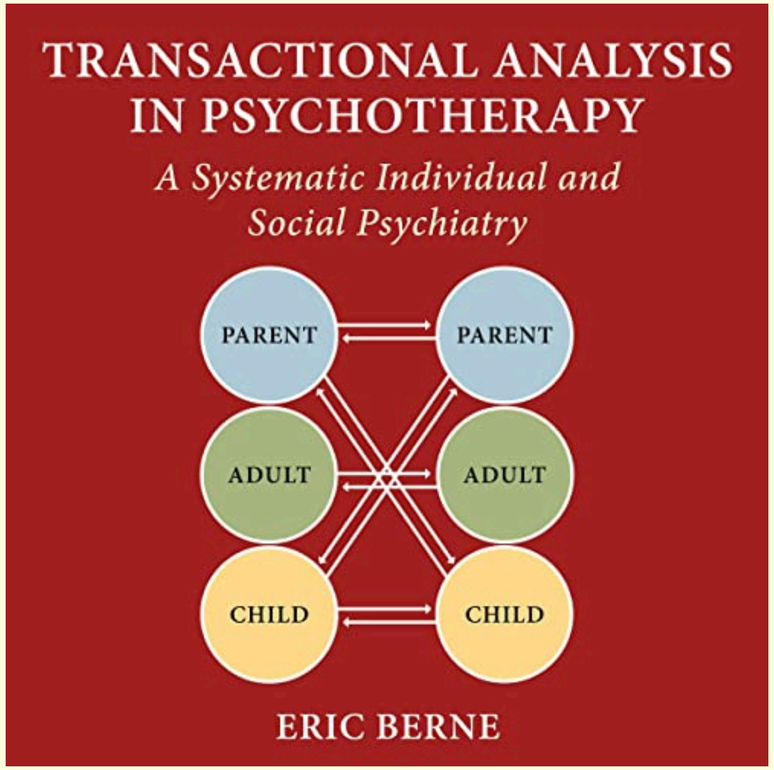

Rollo Reece May (April 21, 1909 – October 22, 1994) was an American existential psychologist and author of the influential book Love and Will (1969). He is often associated with humanistic psychology and existentialist philosophy and, alongside Viktor Frankl, was a major proponent of existential psychotherapy. The philosopher and theologian Paul Tillich was a close friend who significantly influenced his work.

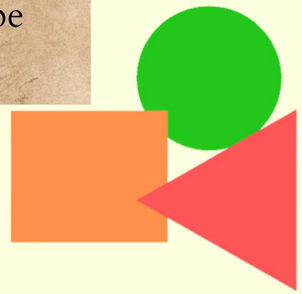

May's other works include The Meaning of Anxiety (1950, revised 1977) and The Courage to Create (1975), named after Tillich's The Courage to Be.

Eric Berne (May 10, 1910 – July 15, 1970) was a Canadian-born psychiatrist who created the theory of transactional analysis to explain human behavior.

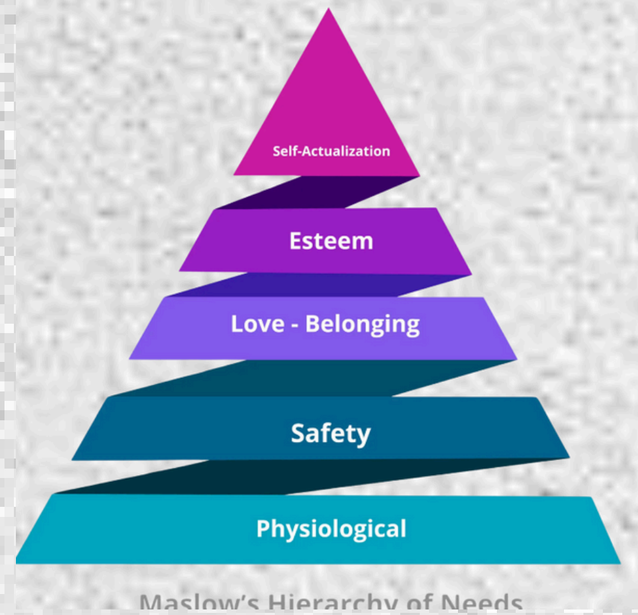

Berne's theory of transactional analysis was based on the ideas of Freud and Carl Jung but was distinctly different. Freudian psychotherapists focused on talk therapy as a way of gaining insight into their patient's personalities. Berne believed insight could be better discovered by analyzing patients' social transactions

Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs

Abraham Harold Maslow (/ˈmæzloʊ/; April 1, 1908 – June 8, 1970) was an American psychologist who created Maslow's hierarchy of needs, a theory of psychological health predicated on fulfilling innate human needs in priority, culminating in self-actualization Maslow was a psychology professor at Brandeis University, Brooklyn College, New School for Social Research, and Columbia University. He stressed the importance of focusing on the positive qualities in people as opposed to treating them as a "bag of symptoms." A Review of General Psychology survey, published in 2002, ranked Maslow as the tenth most cited psychologist of the 20th century.

Erich Seligmann Fromm (/frɒm/; German: [fʁɔm]; March 23, 1900 – March 18, 1980) was a German-American social psychologist, psychoanalyst, sociologist, humanistic philosopher, and democratic socialist. He was a German Jew who fled the Nazi regime and settled in the United States. He was one of the founders of The William Alanson White Institute of Psychiatry, Psychoanalysis, and Psychology in New York City. He was associated with the Frankfurt School of critical theory.

Viktor Emil Frankl (26 March 1905 – 2 September 1997)was an Austrian psychiatrist and Holocaust survivor who founded logotherapy, a school of psychotherapy that describes a search for a life's meaning as the central human motivational force. Logotherapy is part of existential and humanistic psychology theories.

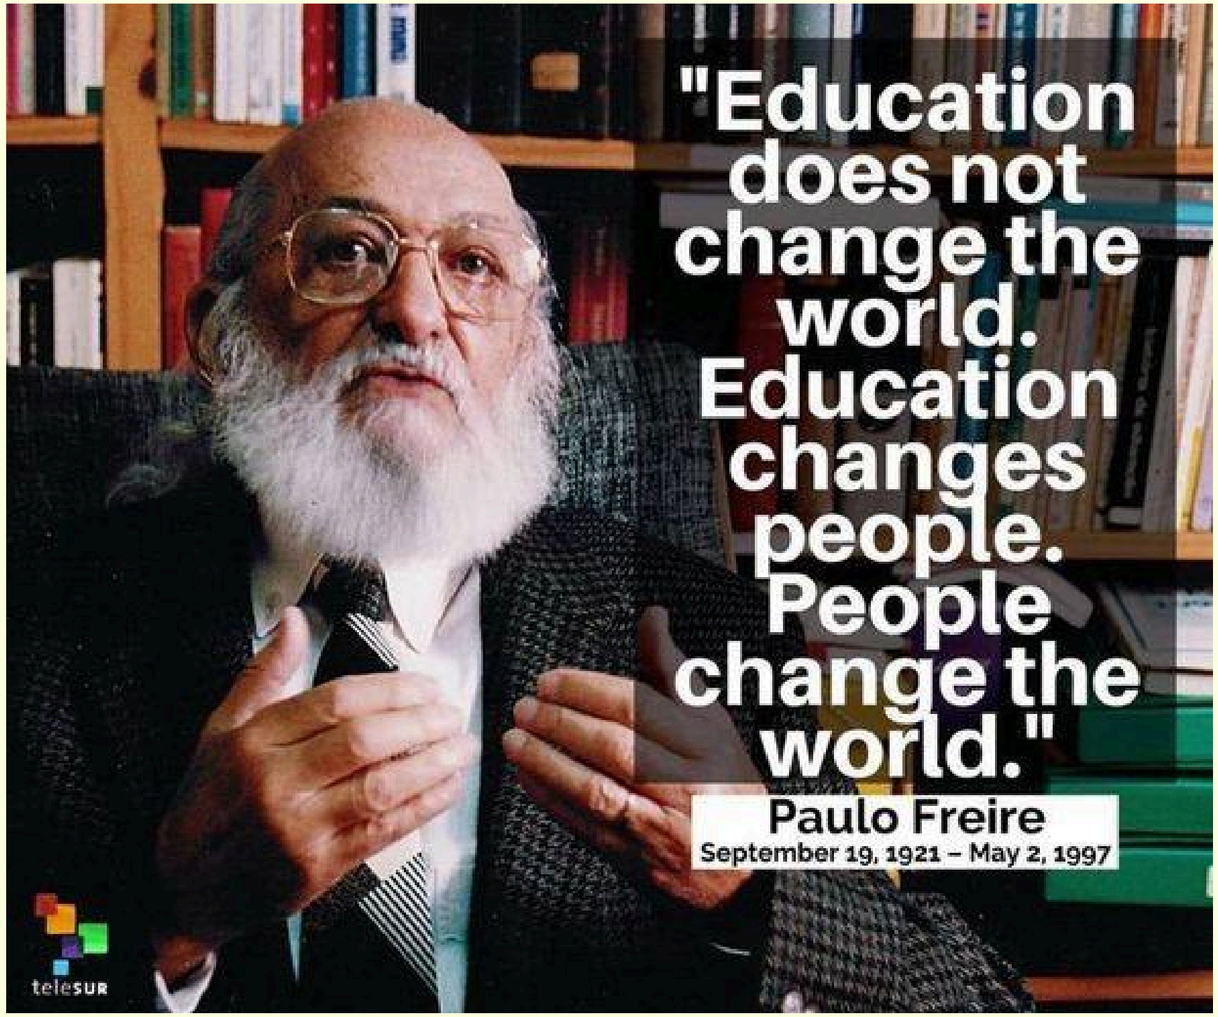

Logotherapy was promoted as the third school of Viennese Psychotherapy after those established by Sigmund Freud and Alfred Adler.

Frankl published 39 books. The autobiographical Man's Search for Meaning, a best-selling book, is based on his experiences in various Nazi concentration camps.

Friedrich Salomon Perls (July 8, 1893 – March 14, 1970), better known as Fritz Perls, was a German-born psychiatrist, psychoanalyst and psychotherapist. Perls coined the term "Gestalt therapy" to identify the form of psychotherapy that he developed with his wife, Laura Perls, in the 1940s and 1950s. Perls became associated with the Esalen Institute in 1964 and lived there until 1969.

The core of the Gestalt therapy process is enhanced awareness of sensation, perception, bodily feelings, emotion, and behavior, in the present moment. Relationship is emphasized, along with contact between the self, its environment, and the other.

CONSCIENCOLOGIA

A afirmação “A consciência dos homens consiste nos valores morais internos e não depende de Deus” realça que a consciência humana está enraizada em princípios morais internos e não depende necessariamente de um ser divino para orientação. A consciência é frequentemente vista como o sentido inato do certo e do errado que orienta as ações e decisões dos indivíduos com base nas suas crenças e valores éticos. Esta visão sugere que a moralidade e o comportamento ético podem ser independentes das crenças ou doutrinas religiosas, destacando a capacidade dos indivíduos para fazerem julgamentos éticos com base na sua bússola moral interna.

علم الضمير

إن عبارة "ضمير الإنسان هو القيم الأخلاقية الداخلية، وهو لا يعتمد على الله" تؤكد أن الضمير الإنساني متأصل في المبادئ الأخلاقية الداخلية ولا يعتمد بالضرورة على كائن إلهي للإرشاد. غالبًا ما يُنظر إلى الضمير على أنه الإحساس الفطري بالصواب والخطأ الذي يوجه تصرفات الأفراد وقراراتهم بناءً على معتقداتهم وقيمهم الأخلاقية. تشير وجهة النظر هذه إلى أن الأخلاق والسلوك الأخلاقي يمكن أن تكون مستقلة عن المعتقدات أو المذاهب الدينية، مما يسلط الضوء على قدرة الأفراد على إصدار أحكام أخلاقية بناءً على بوصلتهم الأخلاقية الداخلية.
